

Gspace & Google Notebook

More Google Stuff for 2008

Firefox Gspace add-on p.1

- What is it?
 - Firefox add-on to use Gmail as FTP file storage site
 - Gspace add-on includes picture viewer & music file player
- Why?
 - Alternative to sneaker-ware as long as you have Internet connectivity
 - Gspace is easier to use than attaching files to emails and sending them to your Gmail account
 - Because Gmail space offers relatively large, often under utilized, storage space

Firefox Gspace add-on p.2

- Where can I get Gspace add-on and info?
 - <http://www.getgspace.com/>
 - <http://www.getgspace.com/faq.html>
- Requirements
 - Firefox running on Windows, Mac, Linux
 - Gmail account
- Precautions
 - Google may lock you out of your Gmail account if too much activity!

Firefox Gspace add-on p.3

- How to use instructions & pop-up
 - <http://www.getgspace.com/howitworks.html#>
- Live demo, issues + Q&A

Google Notebook p.1

- What is Google Notebook?
 - Quick way to collect raw web data & pictures of interest for research, comparative shopping, etc.
 - Quick way to record your own thoughts & notes while browsing the web
 - Your own free personal website of raw information
 - Maintained by Google
 - Managed by you
 - A way to collaborate on the collection of information & ideas
 - A way to publish your collected data & ideas

Google Notebook p.2

- Advantages compared to other alternatives
 - Allows you to focus on the collection of data & ideas with minimal thought to organization, formatting, or presentation
 - Automatically records the URL of captured web data for use in bibliographies, footnotes, certifications, & to be able to return to the website later
 - Quick & easy to use once browser add-ons installed and Google account setup
 - Collaboration
 - Publish (note: legalities)

Google Notebook p.3

- Where to find information about Google Notebook
 - <http://www.google.com/notebook>
 - Take the tour
 - <http://www.google.com/googlenotebook/faq.html>
- Browser add-ons
 - IE & Firefox supported
 - <http://www.google.com/tools/firefox/>
 - Others?
- Live demo + Q&A